

The dots represent turbines placed within the development areas currently pro for Ontario. They are not accurately placed within the project areas, but give a se the density. Some of the projects show the actual number of turbines the devel have announced. Other projects show an estimate (assuming a 2mw turbine) bas the nameplate capacity applied for by the developer

